

NTRLS Expanding Accessibility Program Advisory Council Members

This Council, which includes both not-yet-disabled as well as currently disabled individuals, complements NTRLS staff by assisting with information gathering and sharing and by helping us assure that all barriers to access are being addressed. Its members also help answer questions regarding legal obligations, appropriate library programs and services, and options for addressing specific needs. The group also helps promote partnerships with related agencies.

The NTRLS Accessibility Advisory Council has been an asset to NTRLS staff and to staff at libraries in that they have a vast total amount of knowledge about, as well as personal experience with, special needs, related legislation, assistive technology and related option.
